Join Sage City Live roundtable host:
Mary Clark

Mary Clark brings a wealth of experience when she walks into a conference room to meet with new or existing clients. Prior to starting her own business in 1991, Mary served in different operational roles—including business analyst, systems analyst, and software programmer—in the U.S. and London at manufacturing, engineering, and construction firms. Those roles included statistical and data analysis for sales, marketing, budgeting, and financial operations, giving her a solid background to develop many custom software programs designed to automate inventory management, order processing, and other accounting processes.

Collectively, Mary has over 30 years of experience with Sage ERP solutions, including working with Sage Pro ERP for more than 20 years, Sage 300 ERP for ten years, and most recently Sage 100 ERP for the last two years.

Armed with an in-depth understanding of manufacturing and distribution businesses, her experience affords Mary the skills to see the bigger picture when she walks into a business. An excellent communicator, Mary is quick to grasp complex technical and business concepts and communicate them to her clients in an easy-to-understand manner. Her motto when doing business is "develop a true partnership with clients."

Solution roundtable
Sage 300 ERP
Ideas for filling in the gaps when your ERP system doesn't do everything you need

....

Business roundtable
Too much data, not enough information—how do you make sense of it all?

....

Business roundtable
Strategies for planning (and surviving) a migration

....

Business roundtable
Strategies for setting up IT budgets

Subject to change.